

Sydney ALLA Forum

An Evening with Professor Katherine Stone

Labour Regulation for the Knowledge-Based Economy:
The Case of Japan

The next in the series of the Australian Labour Law Association's Sydney Forums will be held on Wednesday 7 May from 5:00 pm to 7:00 pm at Carroll & O'Dea Lawyers, level 18, 111 Elizabeth Street, Sydney.

Our speaker is Professor Katherine Stone from the UCLA Law School, who will be visiting the University of Sydney Law School. Her talk is titled: "Labour Regulation for the Knowledge-Based Economy: The Case of Japan."

Members will remember Professor Katherine Stone who gave the keynote address at the 2nd Australian Labour Law Association National Conference which was held in Sydney in September 2004. Professor Stone is one of the foremost labour law scholars in the United States and she is a truly outstanding speaker.
